ARENDT ANSWERS CHARGE OF "POLITICS" IN COURT APPOINTMENT

By JACK SILVEY

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The ASB president's recent appointment of the chief justice for the Student Court is a perfect example of a "shady, political appointment." In order for a student to pledge a sorority, fraternity, club, or organization, he or she must be on clear standing.

In order for an ASB member to run for an office, he or she must be on clear academic standing, and this includes the elected members of the Student Court. Put in simple terms all of this means that in order for a student to participate in any extra-curricular activities, he or she must be on clear standing. It's a good rule made for a good, express purpose.

In spite of this fact, and with forewarning, the ASB president took it upon himself to appoint a "political friend" that is not eligible for the office. The Student Court is an organization in every sense; it is sanctioned by the Student Council, and the ASB constitution states that a student must be on clear standing to be eligible for membership in any organization—this appointee is not.

When approached upon the question, the president said that it was not stated in the constitution that an appointed position demands clear standing. That is a very poor, feeble crutch, Mr. President. I've heard you complain about the lack of cooperation, and yet you refuse to cooperate with the spirit of the constitution.

There are many students that are very unhappy about this situation, and they are not satisfied with this situation as it is.

I suggest, Mr. President, that you reconsider your recent appointment, and hereafter interpret the constitution as it should be interpreted.

ASB 281
ASB 5804

"No shady political intrigue was involved in the recent presidential appointment of Frank Hearne to the position of chief justice for the student Court," said Emerson "Doc" Arendt, ASB president, when asked to comment on the accompanying Thrust and Parry letter.

Arendt indicated that the appointment of Hearne following the resignation of J. Keith Pope, came after careful consideration of the appointee's experience in Student government affairs, and his general qualifications for this particular office.

Citing Section 4 of the Student Body constitution which reads, "If a vacancy should occur, the President shall fill the vacancy with the approval of the Student Council," Arendt said that the appointment was in keeping with student government procedure. He took issue with the Thrust and Parry statement indicating that a student must be on clear scholastic standing to be eligible for membership in any organization.

Again referring to the constitution, the ASB president pointed out that scholastic standing is a criterion of eligibility only in the case of elected officers. No such criterion applies in the case of appointments, he said.

Arendt said that he was aware of the probation status of Hearne when the appointment was considered, but did not allow it to influence his decision when Hearne assured him that the appointment would not interfere with studies or the proper conduct of Student Court activities.

Repeated efforts to contact Hearne for comment on the issue prior to press time proved unsuccessful.

VETS' OFFICE GIVES FIRST FINE DONATION

By HUGH WILSON

Miss Josephine Reese and her staff in the Veterans' office, room 16, are the first group to contribute toward paying the fines levied upon Bob Reid and Dilmas M. Rossberg.

The money, in a sealed envelope,

The following students, holding ASB numbers 2746, 5839, 2932, 755, 23, 433, 644, 2142, 988, 617 and 467 please call at the Spartan Daily office today, after 1:30 p.m.

lopes, will be kept in the Spartan Daily office and will be added to any funds gathered in a campus collection campaign.

Students who wrote Thrust and Parry's printed in Wednesday's edition of the Spartan Daily have yet to indicate complete plans for their proposed campaigns to raise $100, the amount Reid and Rossberg were fined.

Meanwhile, the Spartan Daily will hold any donations received, with the names of the contributors. Their money will be returned to them should any fund-raising drive fail to materialize.

CALENDARS GO ON SALE DECEMBER 1

Calendars with pictures of the campus will be on sale December 1, announces Dick Bartels, member of the Spartan Knights. The Spartan Knights are sponsoring the calendar.

"These calendars will make nice Christmas gifts," says Bartels. "They are in desk pad form."

Price of the calendars will be $1 each. Bartels says that 40 cents of each dollar will go to the Chapel fund.

Along with the announcement about the calendars came the news that the student directory, which this year is being published by the Knights, is now at the printers. Price of the directory will be 25 cents, announces Dale Nelson, co-chairman of the directory committee.

San Jose State college calendars will be sold by the Alumni association, the Spartan Shop, Cal Book store, and by the Spartan Knights, states Bartels.

NATATORS BOW TO INDIANS, 8-6

An inspired Stanford water polo team defeated San Jose State last night, 8-6, in a hard fought game at the Olympic Club pool in San Francisco.

The victory insures the Indians of third place in the final standings. The Olympic Club and California won the first two medals and Stanford captured the bronze trophy.

Ed Rutlof, Otis Keeler, Gene Foley and Howard Ruweler did the scoring for the Spartans. Dick Bartels and Captain Tudor Bogart both gave exceptional performances.

San Jose previously dumped the Indians on two occasions this fall. However, Stanford was just too hot for the Spartans last night. The Red and White team led the locals, 6-3, at the half. Although the San Joseans only allowed them two goals in the second half, Coach Walker's men just couldn't bridge the gap.

"There still are a few tickets left for the Fresno State game, but they are going fast," asserted William Felse, graduate manager, yesterday.

Students are urged by Felse to get their tickets early as there are only a few left. "They will be given out on a 'first come, first served' basis," Felse stated.

Tickets for non-college Spartan supporters are available at $2.40 per ducat, said Felse.

The Spartan-Bulldog game will be held at Ratcliffe Stadium in Fresno Thanksgiving day.

ATOMIC STUDY OFFERED IN NEW COURSE

A popularized course in atomic physics will be presented in the Spring quarter by Dr. Earnest S. Greene, associate professor of physics, according to Dr. Gertrude Cavins, co-chairman of the Science department.

"This is one of the most fascinating fields in modern science," Dr. Greene explained. "In order to properly use and control atomic energy the citizen should have some scientific knowledge in the field."

Physics 2-A, pre-med physics, is the only required course. The new class will be given for three units with three lectures a week and no lab.

LINGUISTS NOTE

L. C. Newby, professor of modern languages, requests that any student interested in taking a course in beginning Chinese contact him some time this week in room 25-A between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m.

If a sufficient number of students become interested, this course will be added to the modern language agenda next quarter, according to Newby.

ENGINEER SOCIETY MEETS TOMORROW

A full schedule is promised members of the Engineering Society who attend Friday's meeting in room S210, at 11:30 a.m., according to Publicity Manager Bob Church.

"Feature attraction of the gathering will be an interesting movie on 'Celite', a natural mineral mined in California which is used for high temperature insulating purposes," announced Church.

The agenda also includes discussion on a proposed amendment to the constitution in regard to election of society advisers, Church said.

DR. BORIS GREGORY TO BE HONORED

Dr. Boris Gregory, professor of French, recently received a letter from French Counsel General Raoul Bertrand stating that he has been recommended for honorary membership into the Palmes Academiques.

Raoul described the professor's contribution to France in terms of his "indefatigable activity" in acquainting his students and much of the American public with the French people.

SJSC WILL HOST CONVENTION OF ASB PRESIDENTS

San Jose State college will host a convention of the newly-formed California State College Federation of Student Body Presidents on May 1, announces ASB President Emerson "Doc" Arendt.

The state college federation was formed at a convention over the week end at San Francisco State college. Arendt represented San Jose. Representatives from Humboldt, Fresno, Chico, San Diego, Sacramento, San Francisco, and San Jose State colleges attended the meeting.

Methods of exchanging such student activities as drama productions, debating teams, musical activities and college news were discussed by the seven presidents. Other student problems were brought under discussion, stated Arendt.

This new federation is a branch of the Pacific Student Presidents' Association, of which San Jose State college has been a member for several years. The next meeting of the PSPA will be held in Arizona.

Both the incoming and outgoing Student Body presidents will be at the convention to be held on the local campus next spring. They will adjourn to attend the PSPA meeting.

Further plans for the local convention will be announced later, Arendt stated.

GRENBEAUX IS SENATE HEAD

Jean Grenbeaux, newly elected president of Spartan Senate, men's honorary forensic society, announces the opening of a membership campaign to revitalize the once strong debaters' club.

"The organization faded during the war years, and we are now preparing our comeback," stated Grenbeaux. He will be assisted in heading the drive by Henry Leland, secretary for the organization.

Plans for the future include sending a delegation to a debating met in Salt Lake City sometime this winter, and also to participate in debate competition with other colleges, said the new prexy.

Faculty sponsor for the group is Wilbur F. Luick, instructor in the Speech department.

REV. SMALL SPEAKS AT CCF MEETING

The Reverend Dwight Small, local minister, will speak at the CCF today on the subject "The Bible, Fact or Fantasy?" The meeting will be held in room 39 of the Health wing.

Bob Baylis, CCF president, announces that the "Fireside Frolic" will be held tonight at the lodge two miles south of San Jose. All interested in CCF are invited and are asked to meet at the Student Union tonight at 7:10. The automobile caravan will form at this point.

Special entertainment, games, surprises, and refreshments will be provided, according to Baylis.

ORGANIZATIONS

All organizations: The Spartan Daily is considering a series on the activities of organizations during the Christmas season. See Dan Weck, Spartan Daily office, for forms on which to turn in this information.

SOCIETY ADDS NEW MEMBERS

Society of Academic Scholars have added Adele Dawn Grischy, Norman Barry Smith and Otto Neal Strand to their membership list, according to an announcement by Mrs. Ada Carver of the Personnel office.

These three people, who were not included in the report given to the Spartan Daily earlier this week, bring the total new members to 32.

Mrs. Carver has listed three qualifications a student's record must show before membership is granted: 1. An objective selected from the academic departments; 2. A minimum scholastic average of 2.0 (B); 3. Completion of 90, or more, units of college work.

CARPENTERS FETED INFORMALLY

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Carpenter were honored at an informal coffee hour yesterday in the Student Union, according to Mrs. Lyle Downey, chairman of the affair.

Mr. Carpenter is executive secretary of the Student Y. Others who aided in preparations are: Mrs. Hartley E. Jackson, Mrs. J. A. Burger, Mrs. Howard Worcester, Carolyn Hackman, and Craig Holden. Over 200 guests were present at the affair.

YEARBOOKS TO BE SCARCE

"With only 2500 La Torres going on sale this year, they will be distributed on a 'first come, first serve' basis," warns La Torre Publicity Chairman Bob Rexroad.

He adds that the year books may be ordered in the La Torre office in the Publications office between 12:30 and 4:30 daily, by paying two dollars now and the remaining three dollars by February 15.

"If the money is not paid by that date, it will be forfeited, and the book resold," he added.

Rexroad commented on the outstanding new features about the 1948 La Torre, among which are included the division pages in full color by George E. Stone, nationally known photographer and instructor of photography here.

PROM COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

Tom Wall, junior class president, has released the names of students organizing the Junior Prom scheduled to be presented at the Civic auditorium February 28.

Leading various committees are: Bob Keller, decorations; George Gunter, publicity; Leah Keller, bids; Bob Cronemiller, orchestra; and Bruce McNeil, program.

DAY EDITOR—This Issue—ABNER FRITZ

LYCURGUS SCRIBE NOW SPINS STRANGE STORIES FOR MERC

By WES PEYTON

"If you've run out of City Hall features," sneered the feature editor maliciously last week, "then gimme something about someone down there at the Mercury. How about Wally Trabling?"

Wally Trabling, San Jose State college grad (March '47), looked up from his typewriter. He didn't sneer; he just said, "go away."

Trabling will be remembered by SJS oldtimers as the author of two of Lycurgus' most talked-about features: "Green Passion Box" and "Salami at Six."

"Wrote the Passion Box in the army about a little guy—a real character—who played fiddle in the air base band. Said he wanted an expose done about him. I did it. He didn't think much of it so I saved it until Lycurgus, who didn't know about the little fiddle player, wanted a feature. The editors were pleased easily in those days," Trabling explained.

The Mercury Herald's ace rewrite man, general assignment reporter and feature writer, dug into his double-breasted chalk-stripes and fished out a package of Sen-Sen.

"Chaw?" he inquired.

On receiving a negative reply, he gave his broad, Hart-Shaffner-and-Marx shoulders a Gallic shrug and returned the pouch to a watch pocket.

"Salami was another problem altogether," the savant continued.

"Sorta wrote it in fits and starts. Kinda, you know, piece by piece. Ya see, I allers start all shorter works in a fit of insanity. I try to work back to a sane condition by the last chapter. Figure by the time I'm completely come 'round I'll have the punch line. Never fails."

Trabling, not unknown in the fields of daily journalism, has also turned his undeniable talents to use for the Mercury.

"They pay me, you know," he explained.

Of recent weeks Wally has been aboard a night street sweeper and various other Sunday feature endeavors, including a junket about town in quest of the favorite home-remedy of prominent persons for colds.

Trabling refused to confirm or deny statements from usually reliable sources that he latched onto the cold feature because of a set of sniffles contracted on the street sweeper.

In his spare time, Trabling is hard at work on a novel-length modern Pilgrim's Progress, entitled "Tequila Express;" the work is characterized by Wally as a "Greenhorn's travelogue of Lower California."

Wally, who claims the San Joaquin Valley hamlet of Kingsburg as home, now lives with his bride of several months, the former Lois Baker of Los Gatos, in a vine-covered attic at 275 N. Third St.

While at SJS Trabling claimed allegiance to DTO, while Lois was a member of Sappho sorority.

"Yessiree, Bob, I like news-papering," declared Wally emphatically, "on account of so many interest persons get to meet me."

BITS OF BANTER

By ABNER FRITZ

... One picture is worth 10,000 words. Usually, but last week, one picture caused a lot more words than that.

Helen Dimmick, Dean of women, received several anonymous letters for smoking a cigarette at the Kappa Kappa Gamma last week. Miss Dimmick has playfully threatened Kappa President Margie McLenn with a law suit for loss of professional standing.

The alleged cigarette was actually a spoonful of beans with which the obliging Dean posed.

... Now that we have released our trial balloon at the request of the local WCTU, we can proceed with the more important news of the week.

... Saturday, during the International Relations Club conference, Mrs. John (Dorothy) Smith of San Jose State college was nominated as a candidate for a regional office. Regional officers would attend a national conference in the spring and report at next fall's meeting of the regional group.

Mrs. Smith declined her nomination with the following statement brought the house down. "I'm married you know, and you never can tell!"

There has been brought to our attention a situation that could lead to catastrophic consequences.

The Coop does not serve a plate lunch after 1:30 p.m. Promptly at 1:30 and ¼, the waiters and waitresses snatch the menu holders and the poor joker who has been waiting around for three quarters of an hour is out of luck.

Surely, there must be a solution to this problem.

Shades of John Barleycorn. Time magazine in its September 22 issue reports that the mayor of Brunswick, Georgia has been arrested for drunken driving by local police officers twice in two months. No doubt hizzoner was on his way from the aftermath of a race riot.

... The same magazine also reports that a group of Cambridge, Massachusetts citizens were complaining that a group of juveniles were disturbing the peace in their vicinity.

Local police officers were dispatched to the scene and requested the teen-agers to move on. It seems they were making an awful lot of noise in the neighborhood of the local lockup, the inhabitants there-of could not sleep.

... While on the subject of policemen it should be interesting to note that Topeka, Kansas law enforcers were called on to perform escort duty for a young man who was being molested on his way home from work by some females of the species.

The poor little boy. He probably was afraid of the big, nasty women.

FUELED ENDS AS SCIENCE PROFS BURY HATCHET

The latest outburst of horse-play between "Doc" Robert Rhodes and "Doc" G. A. McCallum came to a peaceful end yesterday as they buried the hatchet in the neck of a certain Glaucous winged Seagull.

The meeting took place on the concrete ramp at the fourth street entrance to the "Temple of Scientific Learning." Attended only by Two Spartan Daily reporters, the friendly rivals sneaked out of their respective lab sessions to smoke the pipe of peace.

At the famous campus gathering place, Rhodes and McCallum agreed to have the famous McCallum seagull (Rhodes still swears it's a buzzard) for Thanksgiving Dinner.

"Tell you what, Bob," McCallum suggested, "I'll buy you a 'coke' to seal our new bonds of friendship."

"It's a deal. I'll even buy the 'lemon' to go with it," Dr. Rhodes promised.

To their loyal but disappointed partisans, each of the biology profs offered his deep personal regrets but as they both said, "You just can't mar the Christmas season."

LATEST FOOP FROM FOOPVILLE

By DAVE LEONARD

"Foop! Foop! Hey Little Foop, wait up a minute," the reporter cried after the rustic youth who was hurrying down the cloistered paths of the school for his late date with a short beer.

Little Foop gave a startled look behind his shoulder and with ape-like agility leaped up and disappeared into the foliage of a nearby tree.

"Come now, Foop, is that a nice way to greet your Spartan reporter," the journalist cajoled, half-way up the tree in hot pursuit.

"Yore a shifless skonk," Foop replied from somewhere in the mass of green.

"Thank you Foop," the earnest young man returned, not unkindly, "but enough of these pleasant-ries. I'm after a story on your older brother Big Foop, Little Foop—the paper wants to eulogize his past deeds on the grid-iron. What have you to say of him?"

"He's a shifless skonk."

"But Foop, isn't it true that he was a high student body official for nine years running?"

"Yup, he bribed his way in by selling pornographic literature to the student council. Didn't know that, didja?" Foop laughed like a mad thing.

"This isn't a very favorable comment, Little Foop. Wouldn't you like to add something constructive?"

"I'd like to bounce a rifle ball off'n his punkin haid."

"Tut, tut Little Foop, thou shouldst hold thy brethren in higher esteem."

"I'll larn ya to cuss at me ya goldarned idjet!" Foop hollered as he jumped from his perch towards the roving reporter, who just managed to pull in his ears before Foop's form hurtled past him towards the ground.

The reporter shinnied down the tree and knelt before Foop's battered and broken body. "Ah Foop," he wept, "what made you take this leap? And what of your remains?"

With his last mortal words, Foop murmured, "The buzzards have literally picked my bones clean. Tis a martyrs grave in Stockton for me." His once proud gold and white dinky trembled in the breeze and then lay still.

Editor Betty Patnoe bangs out material to meet the yearbook's deadline. The 1948 La Torre will feature color pictures for the first time in its history.

SNEAK PREVIEWERS APPROVE LA TORRE COLOR PICTURES

By JEAN STEVENS

La Torre Editor Betty Patnoe can be seen these days with a large manilla envelope clutched tightly in both hands either entering or just emerging from some college official's inner sanctum.

In answer to queries from curious friends, Miss Patnoe confides in hushed tones, "The La Torre campus pictures, in color!"

Reactions from the chosen few who have seen the pictures tend to support Miss Patnoe's enthusiasm. Dean Paul M. Pitman, "Something has been added to La Torre, these pictures certainly enhance the book."

DEVELOPMENT

President T. W. MacQuarrie, "These pictures are very beautiful, but you know the most interesting thing to me is the fact that they were developed right here. We used to have to send colored pictures to Rochester or Chicago to be developed, but Mr. Stone tells me that this new process allows them to be developed in our own labs."

George E. Stone, photography instructor, "I took 32 pictures on campus from which the La Torre staff chose nine. This new Eastman process, Ektachrome, is different from kodachrome in that the latter has softer colors. Artistically speaking, I would prefer Kodachrome; but for photo-engraving, Ektachrome is tops."

MASTER OF COLOR

Dwight Bental, Journalism department head, "Absolutely the loveliest things that ever have been taken. Mr. Stone is an outstanding master of color photography, and the book is certainly fortunate to have him do the pictures."

Pat Walsh, junior social science major, "I think these pictures are positively marvelous."

Dean of Women, Helen Dimmick, "These pictures are really as fine as any I ever have seen. They definitely will add something to La Torre."

Student Body President Emerson "Doc" Arends, "I think these pictures are terrific."

Tri-Gamma Frat Initiates Twelve

Twelve pledges will be accepted formally into Tri-Gamma fraternity tonight at the Gamma Gamma Gamma quarterly initiation dinner at Lou's Village, according to President Pat Filice.

This event will close the pledging activities of Tri-Gamma for the winter quarter of this year. Previously, according to Filice, the pledges attended two informal smokers and went through hell night, during which they were first required to clean paint off various spots on the campus.

Robert Agnew and Harold Gluth are in charge of entertainment for the affair, while Emil "Andy" Anderson is in charge of arrangements for the meeting. Agnew is pledge captain with Phil Piazza and Cecil Perry as assistants.

Locations Chosen

Twenty-six chosen occupants for Sparta's new trailer court met in Room 11 at 4:30 Monday to discuss their common problems anticipated when they move in.

During the gathering the new tenants chose their respective locations in the newest "suburb" of Washington Square.

Six Men Pledge Pi Beta Sigma

Five new members have been pledged to Pi Beta Sigma fraternity, according to Mel Hulse, vice president.

Pledges will complete hell week Saturday night. They include Rodger Woodruff, Ruel Leffer, Winfield Neff, Wallace W. Johnson, and Robert McFadden.

Boyd Johnson, sophomore music major and fraternity member who was injured in an accident several weeks ago, is now at home in Salinas, it was reported. He is expected to return to school by next quarter, Hulse said.

Johnson was arranger on the Music staff of last year's Revelries.

Wanted: One Cage With Bath

The housing crisis is being felt even in Dr. Ralph A. Smith's zoology lab.

Due to a shortage of cages, a pack rat and two chipmunks are living in the same wire apartment. The main hitch is that the rat is a night prowler and the chips are daytime workers. Neither species is getting any sleep, and tension is rising.

"Gad, it's worse than living with your mother-in-law," the rat complained to reporters today.

PLANS CHANGE FOR COMING DSG FRAT DANCE

Dick Morton, president of Delta Sigma Gamma fraternity, announced today that, contrary to previous information, the seventh annual DSG Stable Stomp will be held at the Hall in Almaden Park Saturday, November 22, from 9-1.

The dance will feature the music of Fred Ross, formerly featured singer with the Glen Gray Casa Loma Orchestra, and his orchestra. The cost will be $1.50 per bid, and the dress for the affair will be levis and plaid shirts.

A map will be found among the ads in this issue to direct those planning to attend the affair to their destination. "As in the past, our seventh annual Stable Stomp will be a roaring success next Saturday night, those who attended last year's will remember what kind of an affair that was," stated Morton.

SPARTAN CITY RECEIVES NEW WASHERS

Harry Brakebill, of the Business office, stated yesterday that Spartan City now has eight new Bendix home laundry washing machines.

"The machines arrived last Friday," Brakebill said, "but it will be a few days yet before they are ready for use." He explained that electric switches for the machines have not been installed as yet, but added that the switches will be installed and that the machines will be ready for use in a short time.

The washers are of the coin-operated type, Brakebill said, adding that the fee is 10 cents per washing cycle, a cycle being the complete processing of one tub of washing.

Y MEMBERS ATTEND DINNER

Student Y members and guests are invited to attend a dinner tonight at 6 o'clock in the First Methodist church, Fifth and Santa Clara streets, states Bill Dunlavy, chairman.

A short business meeting will be held after the dinner followed by a dance and games. Jay C. Elder, Dean of General Education, will speak to the group.

Aiding Dunlavy with preparations are Esther Weakley and Bruce McNeil.

HOME EC EXHIBIT SHOWS 'BIG FOUR'

Have you seen the "Big Four?" If not drop over to the Home Economics building and see the new exhibit. The theme of this display is the four main cereals—wheat, corn, oats and rice—and their products which are extensively used by American consumers.

Also, the new apple bread is one of the main features.

This exhibit was prepared by Fay Miller, home economics major.

LOCAL TEACHING STUDIED BY SCIENCE PROFS

Dr. Gertrude Cavins and Dr. Carl Duncan, of the Science department, visited the science classes of Campbell and Fremont High schools this week to observe teaching methods.

"We have a course in science teaching aims and methods in mind for our science majors who are planning on securing secondary credentials," Dr. Duncan remarked.

At Fremont High near Sunnyvale, the professors watched a course in Related Science. The class is given for girls taking home economics. The lesson for the day was on cosmetics.

"That was right up Dr. Cavins alley; she teaches the cosmetics course here, you know," Dr. Duncan added.

The two science instructors plan to visit other high schools this week.

COMP STUDENTS SCRUTINIZED

Students of English composition 1A and 2A are being checked in regard to English A examinations, reports Miss Bobbie Gardner, English Department secretary.

Those who have not passed the English A examination are ineligible for other English courses and will be removed from composition classes 1A and 2A, explained Miss Gardner.

Students who are doubtful as to whether or not they have taken and passed the required examination should check with the English department, room H28.

DECEMBER 15 IS LA TORRE PHOTO DEADLINE

Betty Patnoe, La Torre editor, reminds all seniors graduating in June, 1948 or before, that the deadline for senior pictures is December 15, and that exceptions will not be made for anyone.

She said that seniors belonging to other organizations must have all pictures taken at the same time, and added that instructions for appointments are on the desk in the La Torre office in the Publications barracks. A staff member will be in the office from 12 noon to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Miss Patnoe also stated that caps and gowns are at the Norman Wing studio. She said that the price is $1.40, and that the senior may choose one picture from a set of four proofs.

Miss Robinson Tours Grammar, High Schools

Miss Doris Robinson, head of the Placement office spent some time Monday visiting various elementary and high schools in Santa Clara county in order to familiarize herself with reference to future placement of San Jose State college.

She found that there was still an acute shortage in the elementary field, but that the secondary problem, although still a good deal below normal strength, was slowly building up, and was not as in bad a condition as it was several months ago.

Schools included on Miss Robinson's agenda included Los Gatos high and Campbell high, Cupertino, Saratoga, Moreland, Cambrian, Los Gatos, and Campbell elementary schools.

cutted heroine, Millie, is Jean Hayne, while her stalwart hero is characterized by Denver Groff. Gill Yates plays the dastardly villain, Mulberry Foxhall. Jacqueline Hogan, Barbara Hixon, Bill Hogan, Arta Jo Price and Judy Wyckoff complete the cast.

'Parisian Cafe' Scene for Fashion Tea Sunday in Student Union, 2 to 4:30

A gay colorful "Parisian Cafe" will be the scene when members of Allenian society present their third annual fashion tea Sunday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the Student Union. An exciting color-scheme has been chosen by Colleen Montgomery, decorations chairman, in black, fuschia, white and blue. In the informal atmosphere of a sidewalk cafe, guests will be seated at small tables grouped about the models' platform. The tables will be lighted by candles in wax-dripped bottles.

Topping the models' platform will be a bright, striped canopy in fuschia and white. Decorating the platform itself will be furniture or white wrought iron. Properties have been obtained from Hale Bros. store.

Outfits featuring the "New Look" have been supplied by Mademoiselle, Roos Bros., Laura Abreo and Sibbys. Models chosen from the campus sororities will show classic suits, afternoon and evening wear, fur-trimmed coats, sports attire and robes and pajamas.

Price of admission is $1. Bids may be obtained from members of Allenian society. Because of lack of space, only a limited amount of bids will be offered for sale.

Tea will be served at the "sidewalk" tables to guests. Music will be provided by Mary Elizabeth Falch, harpist.

Y COUNCIL HEARS DR. CASADAY AT REGIONAL MEET

Dr. Arthur Casaday spoke last week at the northern section of the regional Student Council YWCA-YMCA conference in Oakland, according to Hall Landry, Student Y publicity director.

The colleges represented were: San Jose State college, University of California, University of Nevada, Fresno State college, College of Pacific, Sacramento State college, San Francisco State college, Stanford University, and Yuba Junior college.

Attitudes and financial resources of students abroad were discussed. Vivien Ake gave a report on the Presidents' school and Victor McLane presented a proposal, later accepted, to have Sacramento State college set up a lobby in the State Legislature.

Lycurgus Adds New Revenue

For the first time in its existence, Lycurgus, the campus feature magazine, will carry national advertising, announces Al Campbell, business manager.

The magazine will have two four-color page and one black and white full page national ads, according to Campbell.

"The inception of national advertising makes it possible to produce a magazine of higher quality," says Sal Millan, publicity manager for the publication.

Dean Pitman on Sick List Yesterday

Busier than a bird dog in a chicken yard on Monday and sick in bed on Tuesday is the program for Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman, thus far in the week, according to Miss Bernice Van Gundy.

Dean Pitman remained at home yesterday in hopes of recovering from a severe sore throat, stated Miss Van Gundy, but he will probably be back at work today.

ON THE SPORTS TRAIL

By TOM ROWEN

Up and down the Pacific Coast, this is "Big Game" week.

At Stanford, the Indians and Golden Bears renew a rivalry that dates back to 1892. Down south, USC and UCLA hook up in a rivalry that will decide the Rose Bowl western representative.

In the northwest, Washington State plays University of Washington while University of Oregon battles their traditional rival, Oregon State college at Eugene, Oregon.

TOP BILLING

The game at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum draws top billing. The Trojans and the Bruins have developed a cross-town rivalry that is a "natural."

We like USC to defeat El Bruin but don't mortgage the farm and bet on the Trojans. UCLA is rough and tough.

In passing, we might mention that we had Stanford and 18 points in the USC-Redskin game. To prove we have a rabbit foot in our pocket, the Trojans scored one touchdown but they fumbled in the end zone. Of course they scored a few minutes later but we still collected because they don't give six points for fumbles that are not recovered.

CAL-STANFORD

We wondered Saturday afternoon after watching California beat Montana, 60-14, at the Stadium in Berkeley, if there was much use for Stanford to play Pappy Waldorf's gridders.

Every loyal Indian rooster will tell you that Marchie Schwartz is going to have the boys primed for the "Big Game." However, they still are not going to listen to Stanford's victory march Saturday night on the reservation because there isn't going to be a victory for the Indians.

TAKE THE SPARTANS

For a cinch, take San Jose State college over Cal Poly. Of course we were screaming to the high heavens that the Spartans were going to take COP into camp. They didn't but that was another ball game. Can't lose this time.

The Stockton Tigers probably will defeat Fresno State. We would like to see the Bulldogs hand COP a punch on the chin. There is a certain sports writer in Stockton that needs to be put in his place.

MORE PICKS

Returning to "Big Game" tilts, we predict Oregon to defeat Oregon State and Washington State to beat Washington.

Continuing to lead with our chin, we select USC to knock over Notre Dame December 6 in Los Angeles.

We were offered the Trojans and two touchdowns this morning and don't think we didn't take the wager.

SPARTANS PREPARE FOR MUSTANG TILT SATURDAY

By PAUL VON HAFTEEN

San Jose State college's varsity football squad was sent through its final scrimmage yesterday by Coach Bill Hubbard in preparation for the Cal Poly contest Saturday evening at San Luis Obispo.

The Spartans will be given a light workout today and probably will concentrate on a defense for the Mustang's offense. The locals held only two workouts last week in an effort to hold down the injury list.

Biggest blow to the Spartans was the loss of Jack Lercari who injured his foot in the Brigham Young contest. The Spartans won that tilt in a high scoring spree, 28-19. Jake Kakuuchi is another doubtful starter.

Coach Howie O'Daniels ran his victory starved Cal Poly eleven through several scrimmages during the past week. The Mustangs also have been hit by the injury jinx. They have lost Guard Bob Bennett and Halfback Paul Platz. Vernon Bebernes, the Mustang's best punter, injured his kicking toe but may still be all set for the Spartan-Mustang tilt.

The ace of the Mustangs is Bob Ashby, while their best defensive man is Tackle Willoughby Houk. He may play right guard.

Coach Hubbard's men have won over BYU, Hardin Simmons, Hawaiian All-Stars, San Diego, and Santa Barbara. They have lost to COP and USF. The Mustangs have defeated only Cal Tech and have lost to Santa Barbara, San Diego, Fresno, SF. State, Occidental and Pepperdine.

Tentative lineup for the Spartans is: ends, Morgan and Knupper; tackles, Faulk and Marchi; guards, Blackwell and Juliano; center, Piffereini; halfbacks, Elam and Parton; fullback, Denevi; and Jackson at quarterback. However, Parton is a doubtful starter and Steve O'Meara has been shifted to the halfback post.

FROSH COMPLETE DRILLS TODAY

The Spartlets were given their final heavy workout yesterday afternoon as Coach Bud Winter's men have spent the last two weeks preparing for their little big game with the St. Mary's freshman squad.

Doubtful starters for the Spartlets are Mitch Kanalakakis and Ron Padilla who were injured in practice last week. These men will be sorely missed as they have been dependable linemen all season.

Coach Winter will give his men a light workout this afternoon, but he has warned his players not to underestimate the powerful St. Mary's squad. The Gaels have lost only to the Santa Cruz Seahawks, and they have beaten both the USF and Santa Clara freshmen eleven by huge scores.

The Spartlets have won two and lost two this season. They are hoping for a dry field Saturday, as they play wide open football. The game itself is expected to be a high scoring one; since the Gaels use the "T" along with the Notre Dame box and the single wing variations.

CAGE TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE

Tickets are available in the graduate manager's office for the Bellingham Fur Cats-Colored All Stars basketball game at the Civic Auditorium Monday night, according to William Felse.

The Fur Cats are led by Gale Bishop, three-time All American cage star of Washington State college. Earl Torgenson, Boston Braves first baseman, plays for the northwestern team. Pat Patterson, former Oregon State colored ace, also holds down a position on the Bellingham team.

The Graduate Manager stated that the tickets will be available until Friday. After that date, tickets will have to be purchased at the Auditorium. Reserved tickets are $1.20. Students are receiving a reduced price.

Don Grigg, big league baseball player who is promoting the show, announced that Bill Hubbard, Spartan football mentor, will referee the contest.

BEARS DEFEAT STATE GRAPPLERS

The University of California Golden Bear wrestling squad downed the Spartan matmen by a score of 57-19 Friday evening at Berkeley in a practice meet.

Mainstays for the Spartan squad were Ralph and Tom Payne who gathered 13 points for the locals. They also were the only first stringers used by Coach Ted Mumby who gave his other candidates experience to wrestle under meet conditions. Both Payne brothers won their bouts by falls, while Jon Jackson and Bob Meynard won decisions.

Other wrestlers who showed great promise for the Spartans,

CASABA TEAM DRILLS DAILY

San Jose's casaba tossers have begun a five-day a week practice in preparation for a rugged schedule which gets underway on December 3 when State plays the Indians at Palo Alto.

The squad is being divided into three working units. Coach Walt McPherson will henceforth concentrate most of his attention on basketball. Prior to this week the hoopsters were practicing only three days a week.

San Jose's cage mentor has placed several of his veteran players in the first unit. Swift Wunker and Ron Staley are at forwards; Ralph Romero and Bob Wuesthoff at guards; Stu Inman will hold down the pivot post. Inman played guard last season but is needed at the center position this year. Wuesthoff is a returning letterman.

McPherson has placed John Kane and Jim Cruze at the forward positions on the second unit; Hal Marks and Jack Wherry are the guards; Bob Hagen is at center. Hagen played forward last season but will be used to bolster Sparta's strength at the pivot spot until Morgan and Hughes put away their football suits.

Glenn Wilson and Kerlin Morgan are the forwards on the third unit; Bill Oltmann is at center; Tony Janovich and Lou Harris are at the guard positions.

were Don Lathrop, George Waxham, John Melendez, Jim Eliot, Phil Bray, and Leo Raiche. Lee Christiansen and Hugh Mumby were Cal's standouts. Bob Gates, 121 pound wrestler, suffered a shoulder injury. He was the only casualty.

Three other practice meets and one tourney remain for the squad. Opponents are San Quentin, El Toro Marines, and the Northern California Novice tourney to take place in the city on Dec. 6.

NATIONAL CHRISTMAS SEAL DRIVE WILL GET UNDER WAY MONDAY

The 41st national annual Christmas Seal sale will begin Monday, November 24, with the mailing of 70,000 letters throughout the county, according to Mrs. Ann Castellanos, who is in charge of the sales.

Spartan Spears, honor sophomore women's society of San Jose State college, contributed their services to the stuffing of the seal sale letters Monday night.

"Funds raised from the sale of seals every year during the holiday season are the only source of income for the Santa Clara county Tuberculosis Association's year-round program of tuberculosis prevention," declared Mrs. Castellanos.

The Association has been on campus twice earlier in the quarter with their mobile unit, working in conjunction with the SJSC Health department taking X-rays of students, according to Miss Margaret Twombly of the Health department.

ALPHA CHI EPSILON INITIATES TONIGHT

Jeannette Morse, president of Alpha Chi Epsilon, announced that several Kindergarten-Primary majors will be initiated into her organization tonight at 7:30 in the Student Center.

Adviser for the group, which is composed of Kindergarten-Primary majors, is Miss Emily DeVore.

SAPPHO SOCIETY SLATES LUNCHEON

A Mothers' luncheon will be held by Sappho Society at their house at 184 S. 11th St. tomorrow, honoring the Mothers' Club, according to President Virginia Miller.

Barbara Curry will be in charge of the luncheon which is under the sponsorship of the Sappho House Improvement committee. Ann Myren, Lois Carlyle, and Barbara Kennedy also are on the committee. Sappho members will attend the luncheon.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA TO BE GUESTS

Alpha Phi Omega members will be guests of the YWCA house girls tonight, according to Bill Walker, president.

All members are invited to attend the dance which will last from 7:30 until 11 p.m. at the YWCA, Third and San Antonio streets.

FIRST IBSEN PLAY OPENS TOMORROW

"A Doll's House," the first of a series of three Henrik Ibsen plays to be presented this season, will open Friday, November 21 at 8:15 in the Studio Theater. The three-act play will run from November 21 through 23.

Elizabeth M. Loeffler, instructor of speech, will direct the story concerning a woman who is never permitted by her husband to make decisions or accept responsibilities that normally fall upon a wife and mother. Nora, the wife, played by Anne Hoffman, is suddenly confronted with the truth about her husband and her life with him.

John Calderwood and Donald Holladay will alternate shows playing the leading male part of the husband, Torvald Helmer. Similarly, the role of Doctor Rank will alternate between Clifford Roche and Ivan Van Perre. Joseph Bologna and Derrell Bond will play the role of Nils Krogstad. Sheila Markoff as Mrs. Linde and Chole Kay playing the part of Anne complete the cast.

Tickets are now on sale in the speech office, room 57.
